DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments, filed 11/03/05, with respect to claims 1-42 have been fully considered and are persuasive. The rejection of claims 1-42 has been withdrawn.

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

2. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Gang Luo on 01/09/06.

The application has been amended as follows:

Replace the title of the Application with –A speech recognition method, program and apparatus using multiple acoustic models--.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-42 are allowed.

4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Claims 1, 6, 9, 12, 17, 20, 23, 28 and 31, while all different in scope, teach a speech recognition method comprising: creating speech data with different types of noise superimposed, eliminating the superimposed noise by using a predetermined noise elimination method, creating acoustic models corresponding to a plurality of SNRs for each of the noise types, storing these acoustic models, when performing speech recognition: determining the type of noise superimposed on the speech, selecting a corresponding model from the acoustic models corresponding to the determined noise type, eliminating the noise by the predetermined noise elimination method and performing speech recognition on the noise eliminated speech using the selected acoustic model.

Wakisaka teaches a speech recognition system comprising:

creating speech data on which different types of noise have been superposed (voice contains noise, col. 13, lines 1-3);

creating and storing acoustic models according to each of the noise types (creates multiple acoustic models under different noise environments, col. 14, lines 35-39);

during speech recognition: determining the type of noise superposed on speech data to be recognized (recognizes the type of noise, col. 13, lines 41-45);

selecting the corresponding acoustic model corresponding to the determined noise type (determined noise environment is used to search for an acoustic mode for voice recognition hence selecting a model, col. 13, lines 41-48);

eliminating the noise using a predetermined noise elimination method in the training and speech recognition processes (noise deletion unit, col. 13, lines 29-34); and perform speech recognition based on the selected model (acoustic collating unit collates the input voiced with an acoustic model and produces a recognition result, col. 13, line 63 to col. 14, line 3).

Wymore teaches acoustic models corresponding to a plurality of S/N ratios (col. 4, lines 18-27). Specifically Wymore teaches different noise levels which implies the noise levels having different SNRs.

None of the prior art on record teaches or suggests creating acoustic models corresponding to each of a plurality of SNRs for each of the noise types. It would not have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to modify the systems of Wakisaka and Wymore to arrive at the Applicant's invention.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
